The Journal of Consumer Satisfaction, Dissatisfaction and Complaining Behavior (JCSDCB) is published annually to present articles central to the theme of the journal. Conceptual pieces and research conducted in the contexts of B-to-B, Services, and B-to-C are of equal interest.

Authors are solely responsible for all statements and facts in their articles. The Journal is not responsible for unsolicited manuscripts.

REVIEW PROCEDURE: Please submit your manuscript via jcsdcb.com. Three to four reviewers are used in a double blind review process. Upon return of the reviews the accept/reject/revise decision is made by the editor and the contact author is notified. Reviewers’ comments are provided to the author(s).

DOUBLE PUBLICATION: To protect JCSDCB, any and each author who allows a manuscript to be published in JCSDCB guarantees that the paper accepted for publication in JCSDCB is not copyrighted elsewhere or that all copyright clearances have been obtained and delivered to JCSDCB and also guarantees to pay any and all damages and legal expenses resulting from any copyright problem existing at the time of publication in JCSDCB. As the authors are the only ones who have full knowledge in this matter they are the ones who bear full responsibility and liability for full disclosure to JCSDCB.

TIMING OF SUBMISSION: Papers can be submitted at any time and will be reviewed and accepted/rejected in as timely a fashion as possible.

LENGTH: Any length manuscript will be considered for publication. However, manuscripts over 45 double-spaced printed pages including all tables and appendices will be looked at very carefully to see if the contribution warrants that much space.

ABSTRACT: Manuscripts must be accompanied by an abstract of at least 100 words, preferably around 150 words, and not exceeding 200 words. Key words, methodologies, and findings must be clearly articulated in the abstract.

AUTHOR IDENTIFICATION: Because JCSDCB uses a double blind, peer-review process it is inappropriate for authors to identify themselves or provide clues to their identity in their manuscripts.

REFERENCES: Reference citations in the text of the manuscript should be in parentheses, by author's last name and year of publication, for example (Day 1977). If the author's name appears in a sentence the name should be followed by the year, for example, “...Day (1977)...” If a page is cited it should be noted as follows: (Day 1977, p.26). If a citation has only two authors always use both authors’ names (Day and Hunt 1978). If a citation has three or more authors, include all the authors’ names the first time the citation appears. After the first appearance, use only the name of the first author, for example, an article by Hunt, Day and Someone would be (Hunt, et al. 1978). In a series of citations in the same location, separate the citations with a semicolon, for example, (Day 1977; Hunt et al. 1978). Works published in the same year by the same author(s) should be differentiated by letters after the date, for example, Day 1977a; 1977b).

All references cited in the article and ONLY references cited in the article are to be fully listed in alphabetical order at the end of the article, with the first author surname first and other authors’ names surname last. Standard reference punctuation is expected. Recent JCSDCB articles may be used for examples. First names as well as last names are required except where an author is known by their initial or initials, for example, H. Keith Hunt, not H. K. Hunt, or Ralph L. Day, not R. L. Day.

FOOTNOTES AND ENDNOTES: JCSDCB does not permit the use of footnotes. However, endnotes are often warranted and are therefore considered acceptable. Contact the Editor if you have questions about this matter.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS: Acknowledgements are discouraged but may be used if required and will be placed at the end of the paper following the references section.
CAMERA-READY COPY: Camera-ready art work for any graphics may be requested from the authors after the manuscript is accepted for publication. JCSDCB prints with black ink on white paper. No colors other than black ink are allowed. Tables and figures must have a white background. What may be an attractive color figure in your manuscript could end up as uneven shading in the printed journal. Figures using shading sometimes do not print well.

PRINTED JOURNAL: JCSDCB is a print journal. We print annually at the end of our fiscal year.

CSDCB CONFERENCES: Since the late 1980's, CSDCB conferences had, with a few exceptions, been held in odd-numbered years. Since 2003, however, the conferences have been held in even years. The next conference will be held in June, 2018. Papers and presentations of all kinds are welcome, as long as they are focused on consumer satisfaction, dissatisfaction and/or complaining behavior, or related topics.
