When I came to UNLV at first, I had a fear about English. I am an international student who have never spoken in English, so using the English was burden for me. However, in my first semester, I took a English 113 class, and I learned a lot of things. First, I learned what is English, how it is structured, and how to write academically. During the class, I could know writing skills and new vocabulary. And it was helpful for me to improve my English skill. As taking English 114 class now, I could approach to write in English deeper and easier. Now, I have confidence about English and this course became my new guidance to do my school works well. As this course gave me very important acknowledge and writing skills, I believe that this course can be great helper to new student.
