To Whom may concern:

I am a student of UNLV, and I am taking English as a Second Language class, ENG 114. I don't know have you had any experience that you want to a place that no one can speak the same language with you? Since I moved to America, the first class I had take is English as a Second Language class, even though it start from the beginning. I had learn many different things, because I had a good teacher. This is my first English class at UNLV. at the English Language Center, everyone are very nice, the advisors explain which English class I should take, the professor had teach and explain many things to us that we cannot learn from the book. I understand that if I want to live and work in America, English is very important. I hope that you can keep English Language center in UNLV.

Sincerely,
