Attached is an incomplete draft thesis prepared by a Geoscience student at UNLV. Your task is to edit this thesis with respect to grammar and clarity. I do not expect you to judge the merit of the scientific content. Also, I do not expect a detailed review of data tables; however, comments regarding presentation are appropriate.

This assignment is to be done in groups that I will assign. Each group is to submit:

1) A single copy of the thesis in which minor edits have been clearly marked. Minor edits would include: punctuation, spelling, tense, colloquialisms, jargon, repeated words, misused words, etc.

2) A typed list of more substantial comments that are presented in a constructive and respectful manner. The location of the relevant text should be marked on the annotated thesis. Examples of more substantial edits would include: missing information, lack of clarity, run-on or awkward sentence, scientific comments, repeated small problems, redundancy, etc.
