Prerequisites: Good standing in the Honors College and HON 181 (grade of C or better)

Learning Objectives: 1. Solve integration problems using substitution, integration by parts, trigonometric integration, trigonometric substitution, and partial fraction decomposition; 2. Apply integration to calculate the area between curves and volumes of solids of revolution; 3. Determine whether a series converges or diverges by either recognizing that it is a geometric series or a $p$-series or by using an appropriate test such as the integral test, comparison test, limit comparison test, ratio test, root test, or alternating series test; 4. Apply knowledge of series to (a) determine whether a series converges absolutely, converges conditionally, or diverges and (b) represent a function as power series and determine its radius and interval of convergence; 5. Understand and graph polar equations using polar coordinates and calculate the area of a region bounded by one or more polar curves.

Notes: Note sheets are available from my website http://faculty.unlv.edu/robinette/robinette.html
Print your own copy before you come to class. We fill these out together in class. If you miss class, then you are expected to get the notes from one of your classmates. I will not provide notes for days you are absent.

Calculators: Calculators are not allowed during the exams, tests, quizzes, or the final exam.

Homework and Quizzes: The problems that you should work after each lecture are on the assignment list. These are from your textbook and should be completed in a manner that practices the steps and techniques we use in the notes for class. There will be pop quizzes to test your understanding. Your top ten quiz scores, each worth 10 points, will combine to make your quiz score, worth 100 points.

Exams and Tests (In-class): There will be two in-class exams, worth 100 points each as well as two in-class tests, worth 50 points each. The dates of the exams are February 8 and April 12, and the dates of the tests are February 27 and May 1. If you fail to take an exam or test during the scheduled class time for a justified and excusable reason (with verification) (see UNLV policy on Religious Holidays and Missed Classes), then you will have an opportunity to take a make-up exam during final exam week on Friday, May 11, 2018, from 7:00 – 8:00 a.m.

Final Exam: The final exam, worth 100 points, is an in-class comprehensive exam is scheduled for Tuesday, May 8, 2018 from 10:10 a. m. – 12:10 p. m. in our classroom CBC C213.

Grading: There are a total of 500 points available in this course coming from your final exam score, quiz score, two in-class exams, and two in-class tests. Final grades for the course are based on the following percentage scale:

- A: [90, 100]
- B+: [84, 90]
- B: [78, 84]
- C+: [72, 78]
- C: [66, 72]
- D+: [60, 66]
- D: [50, 60]
- F: [0, 50]

Grades of A–, B–, C–, and D– may be given in borderline cases, where class attendance and class participation will be determining factors.

Attendance: You are expected to attend class regularly. You are responsible for all the material presented and all announcements made on days you are absent.

Tutoring: Tutoring through the Department of Mathematical Sciences is available for this course at the Math Tutoring Clinic, located in CDC 701. For more information including location and hours visit their website www.unlv.edu/math/tutoring or call (702) 895-3567 or send an email to math@unlv.edu.
Emailing within WebCampus is acceptable to the university. Students' e-mail addresses are used as part of the Rebelmail system for students. It is one of the primary ways students receive official university communication such as information about deadlines, major campus events, and announcements. All UNLV students receive a Rebelmail account after they have been admitted to the university. Students' e-mail prefixes are listed on class rosters. The suffix is always -mail. The Rebelmail system also includes a campus directory for students. Students enrolling at UNLV assume the obligation to conduct themselves in a manner compatible with UNLV's function as an educational institution. An example of academic misconduct is plagiarism. Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of another, from the Internet or any source, without proper citation of the sources. See the Student Academic Misconduct Policy (approved December 9, 2005) located at: https://www.unlv.edu/studentconduct/student-conduct.

Classroom Conduct—Students have a responsibility to conduct themselves in class and in the libraries in ways that do not interfere with the rights of other students to learn or of instructors to teach. Use of electronic devices such as pagers, cellular phones, or recording devices, or potentially disruptive devices or activities, are permitted only with the prior explicit consent of the instructor. The instructor may rescind permission at any time during the class. If a student does not comply with established requirements or obstructs the functioning of the class, the instructor may initiate an administrative drop.

Classroom Surveillance—Nevada Revised Statutes (State Law) 396.970 Surreptitious electronic surveillance on campus; exceptions. [Effective January 1, 2017.] 1. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 2, it is unlawful for a person to engage in any kind of surreptitious electronic surveillance on a campus of the System without the knowledge of the person being observed. 2. Subsection 1 does not apply to any electronic surveillance: (a) Authorized by a court order issued to a public officer, based upon a showing of probable cause to believe that criminal activity is occurring on the property under surveillance; (b) By a law enforcement agency pursuant to a criminal investigation; (c) By a peace officer pursuant to NRS 289.830; (d) By a uniformed peace officer of the Nevada Highway Patrol Division of the Department of Public Safety pursuant to NRS 480.365; (e) Which is necessary as part of a system of security used to protect and ensure the safety of persons on the campus; or (f) Of a class or laboratory when authorized by the teacher of the class or laboratory. (Added to NRS by 1993, 2138; A 2015, 575, 3666, effective January 1, 2017)

Copyright—The University requires all members of the University Community to familiarize themselves with and to follow copyright and fair use requirements. You are individually and solely responsible for violations of copyright and fair use laws. The university will neither protect nor defend you, nor assume any responsibility for employee or student violations of fair use laws. Violations of copyright laws could subject you to federal and state civil penalties and criminal liability, as well as disciplinary action under University policies. Additional information can be found at: http://www.unlv.edu/provost/copyright.

Disability Resource Center (DRC)—The UNLV Disability Resource Center (SSC-A 143, http://drc.unlv.edu, 702-895-0866) provides resources for students with disabilities. If you feel that you have a disability, please make an appointment with a Disabilities Specialist at the DRC to discuss what options may be available to you. If you are registered with the UNLV Disability Resource Center, bring your Academic Accommodation Plan from the DRC to the instructor during office hours so that you may work together to develop strategies for implementing the accommodations to meet both your needs and the requirements of the course. Any information you provide is private and will be treated as such. To maintain the confidentiality of your request, please do not approach the instructor in front of others to discuss your accommodation needs.

Final Examinations—The University requires that final exams given at the end of a course occur at the time and on the day specified in the final exam schedule. See the schedule at: http://www.unlv.edu/registrar/calendars.

Incomplete Grades—The grade of I—Incomplete—can be granted when a student has satisfactorily completed three-fourths of course work for that semester/session but for reason(s) beyond the student’s control, and acceptable to the instructor, cannot complete the last part of the course, and the instructor believes that the student can finish the course without repeating it. The incomplete work must be made up before the end of the following regular semester for undergraduate courses. Graduate students receiving “I” grades in 500-, 600-, or 700-level courses have up to one calendar year to complete the work, at the discretion of the instructor. If course requirements are not completed within the time indicated, a grade of F will be recorded and the GPA will be adjusted accordingly. Students who are fulfilling an Incomplete do not register for the course but make individual arrangements with the instructor who assigned the I grade.

Library Resources—Students may consult with a librarian on research needs. Subject librarians for various classes can be found here: https://www.library.unlv.edu/contact/librarians_by_subject. UNLV Libraries provides resources to support students' access to information. Discovery, access, and use of information are vital skills for academic work and for successful post-college life. Access library resources and ask questions at https://www.library.unlv.edu.

Rebelmail—By policy, faculty and staff should e-mail students’ Rebelmail accounts only. Rebelmail is UNLV’s official e-mail system for students. It is one of the primary ways students receive official university communication such as information about deadlines, major campus events, and announcements. All UNLV students receive a Rebelmail account after they have been admitted to the university. Students’ e-mail prefixes are listed on class rosters. The suffix is always @unlv.nevada.edu. Emailing within WebCampus is acceptable.

Additional Miscellaneous Policies

Academic Misconduct—Academic integrity is a legitimate concern for every member of the campus community; all share in upholding the fundamental values of honesty, trust, respect, fairness, responsibility, and professionalism. By choosing to join the UNLV community, students accept the expectations of the Student Academic Misconduct Policy and are encouraged when faced with choices to always take the ethical path. Students enrolling at UNLV assume the obligation to conduct themselves in a manner compatible with UNLV’s function as an educational institution. An example of academic misconduct is plagiarism. Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of another, from the Internet or any source, without proper citation of the sources. See the Student Academic Misconduct Policy (approved December 9, 2005) located at: https://www.unlv.edu/studentconduct/student-conduct.
